

DR. JUAN CARLOS "JC" BELLIARD
Professor / University Administrator

Age: 55

My wife and I have lived in Loma Linda since 1992. It has been a wonderful place to raise our children, care for aging parents, and grow professionally. I have dedicated my career to health equity, community engagement, and partnership building. A seat on the city council will enable me to apply my public health skills to the area of urban planning.

I support a health in all policies approach to development. Loma Linda's global reputation of health, service, and longevity is fertile ground for being recognized as an age-friendly community. We should leverage this reputation to attract businesses that align with our city's values and wellness culture. We should also pursue existing funding that supports sustainable and regenerative growth. We can do well by doing good. My priorities include:

- A focus on the built environment and sustainable growth
- A commitment to finding human-centered and effective solutions to homelessness
- Fostering civic engagement that promotes responsive governance

I am committed to collaboratively creating a clear shared vision for our city that will guide our policies and help make decisions that will allow us to live up to our reputation. We can do better together.
